Americans Have to Stop Australian

By GEOFFREY MILLER

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — The powerful Australian tennis contingent today claimed six places in the last 16 of the Wimbledon tournament, and the big question was who can stop Roy Emerson from winning again.

"Emmo is hitting the ball so beautifully," said U.S. Davis Cup team manager George MacCall after watching the champion eliminate one of his American hopes, Charlie Pasarell.

"Is anyone going to stop him? It's a $64,000 question."

The next man to try will be Stan Smith, a 20-year-old from Pasadena, Calif., who battered Keith Woldridge, one of Britain's bright young prospects, 6-3, 6-2, 6-3 in the third round Thursday.

Smith is one of three Americans left in contention. The others are Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., who defeated South Africa's Keith Diepraam 6-2, 4-6, 6-1, 6-1, and Cliff Richey of Dallas, Tex., 6-2, 7-5, 9-7 winner over Frenchman Georges Goven.

The strength of the Australian bid for the title was underlined once more. A second Australian seeded player was eliminated, John Newcombe, fifth favorite for the title. The man who mastered him was another Aussie, 26-year-old Ken Fletcher.

In the previous round Fred Stolle, the lanky Australian who has been runner-up three years running, was defeated by Australian Bob Hewitt. Another Australian giant-killer, Owen Davidson, defeated eighth seeded Clark Graebner of Beachwood, Ohio, in the second round.

Besides the six Australians and three Americans, those battling for places in the quarterfinals were a South African, a Briton, a Frenchman, an Indian, a Spaniard, a Dutchman and a Dane.

The Spaniard is stylish Manuel Santana, who crushed Davis Cupper Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., 6-3, 6-2, 10-8.

Hurlier Married to Movie Star

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Minor league pitcher Lee Meyers, actress Mamie Van Doren's new husband, says when two people love each other, age makes no difference.

The blonde film star, 33, and Meyers, 20, revealed Wednesday their May 4 marriage in Boise, Idaho.

Meyers, from Huntington Beach, Calif., said he and Miss Van Doren plan to see each other at the end of the month—the first time since a three-day honeymoon in May.

He was demoted to the bottom of the minor leagues Tuesday. The Dallas-Fort Worth spurs of the Texas League informed Meyers that he was being sent to Lodi of the California League.

Miss Van Doren, playing summer stock in Cedar Grove, N.J., said "I'm glad the news is out, now I feel much more relieved."

Zuni Mission to Be Restored

ZUNI, N.M. (AP) — Zuni tribal and church officials have announced plans to restore the old Zuni mission church, believed to have been built about 1700.

The Zuni Tribal Council and the Franciscan Fathers of St. Anthony Roman Catholic mission estimate the cost of the restoration at $100,000.

Welcome for Faisal Is Unofficial

By GEORGE NEWMAN

NEW YORK (AP) — King Faisal of Saudi Arabia, stripped of his standing as an official city visitor, begins his visit to New York today as the guest of the United Nations and several private groups.

Mayor John V. Lindsay, under public and political pressure, canceled a planned welcoming dinner for Faisal Thursday night. By order of the mayor, no city official was on hand to greet Faisal when the king arrived at La Guardia Airport from Washington.

Lindsay said Faisal's remark in Washington about Jews "has made it impossible for me, as mayor of New York City, to extend the official welcome of the city."

Was Dreaming Out Loud a Little Bit

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Paterson and Clay, all in one day."

Oscar Bonavena was dreaming out loud after his razor-thin decision over Toronto's George Chuavlo in a Madison Square Garden heavyweight match Thursday night.

The Argentine champion was surrounded by wildly enthusiastic fans from his native land. Suddenly a split 10-round decision had turned into an overpowering victory.

"He's strong like a bull," said Bonavena of the Canadian titleholder. "He has a big, big heart. Now I want to fight Floyd Patterson, Cassius Clay, anybody."

The officials were not quite so sure that Bonavena was ready for greater things. Referee Arthur Mercante called it a draw, voting 4-4, with four points for each. Judge Tony Castellano gave Bonavena a 5-4-1 edge.

Only Judge Tony Rossi had it a clear cut 7-3 for Oscar. The AP card was 4-4-2 and would have settled for a draw. A ringside poll showed five votes for Bonavena, four for Chuavlo and three for a draw.

"I thought I won it 6-4," said Chuavlo who now has lost three of his last four fights, including a 15-round title match with Clay March 29. "He is a mauler, hard to fight, tough and heavy-handed. I'd love a return bout. He never hurt me but I thought I hurt him in the second, third and tenth."

The 1,192 fans who paid $34.75 in hopes of seeing a war between two rough, tough guys, wound up booing for action in the middle rounds. The two heavyweights, Bonavena at 203 pounds and Chuavlo at 215, tried hard but they just couldn't put together any sustained attack.

Climaxing a day of festivities the Hope High School class of 1946 had a banquet at the Town and Country on Saturday night,

June 18. On this, the 20th year reunion, the school colors of red and white were used in attractive decorations.

Raymond Byers served as master of ceremonies for the program following the dinner, and Ira "Buddy" Porter gave the welcome to the 68 attending. Troy Hammons Bass read the Class Prophecy written 20 years before, an dit was fun to see how close or mistaken the predictions had been. Norma J. Hazzard Delaney read messages from class members unable to attend.

Mrs. Foy Hammons, widow of the Bobcat coach, was an honored guest, and members of the 1945 football squad presented her a plaque in memory of Coach Hammons with Dennis Chesshir of Ft. Worth, the team quarterback, acting as spokesman. Other special guests were Mr. and Mrs. James H. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Perkins.

Local products were presented to class members with various distinctions. A step-ladder went to the farthest traveler, Arlene Smith Kring, who came from Tripoli, Libya, North Africa. Blake Schooley, now stationed in Texas, received a dozen eggs for having the most children, five. The parent of the oldest child, Marion Stewart Harp of Bauxite, got a cane, and the one with the youngest child, Troy Hammons Bass, a dozen eggs.

J. Clarice Brown Hightower of Little Rock read memorials for two who are deceased, Nancy Spruell, a class member, and Miss Mary Droke, class sponsor. Classmates from five states and North Africa gathered at the WOW Hall during the day for fellowship and reminiscence. Pictures and copies of the school paper and the tabloid were displayed, and beautiful red carnations were used as decorations.

The following daughters of local classmates registered the ones attending the reunion: Cecilia Delaney, Donna Byers, Mary Gwen Allen, Carla Turner, and Brenda McRoy. They presented each class member with a red bobcat name tag.

Tours of Hope were conducted for those wishing to see the changes wrought in 20 years, and Open House was held from 2 to 4 in the afternoon at the WOW Hall for the general public. Punch and cookies were served.

Religion Poses Issue of Security

By GODFREY ANDERSON BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Religious strife may pose security problems when Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip visit Northern Ireland next month.

Belfast remains a sectarian city in an ecumenical age. It takes religion seriously and its religious and political tensions are closely interwoven.

Protestant extremists have threatened the queen's hosts—Lord Erskine, governor of Northern Ireland, and his wife. They are angry that the governor vetoed their plan to name a new bridge, which the queen will open, for the late Lord Carson, Ulster's patriot Protestant hero. The bridge, the governor ruled firmly, will be called the Queen Elizabeth Bridge.

The Rev. Ian Paisley, leader of a militant sect called Free Presbyterians, says he will lead a march on the governor's residence July 2—two days before the queen arrives in Ireland. Paisley protests he is loyal to the queen but says he fears a takeover by the Roman Catholic Church in Northern Ireland.

When the Archbishop of Canterbury went to Rome this spring for his historic meeting with Pope Paul VI, Paisley led a small but noisy opposition.

In Northern Ireland, about two-thirds of the population is Protestant, mainly Presbyterian or Church of Ireland—Anglican; and one-third Roman Catholic. The Republic, to its south, is 95 per cent Catholic.

Northern Ireland probably is the only place left in the British Isles where being a Catholic or a Protestant can affect a person's whole life—where he lives, the kind of money he earns, the firm which is willing to employ him and the kind of job he can do. Some Protestant firms will not employ Catholics at all. Others will give them only menial jobs. The Protestant Orange-men's lodges, set up to fight Roman Catholic influence, are still strong both in Parliament and Belfast City Hall. The slightest move may stir them to indignation and they can turn out thousands on the streets.

One difficulty is that religion is so closely bound with politics and business. The Unionist, conservative, party, which has long run the local government and sent 12 members to the London House of Commons, is an almost exclusively Protestant machine. Only in the last general election did one Belfast Roman Catholic gain a seat at Westminster.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Having sent George Murphy to Washington, Hollywood now gets Jack Baenti in return. This week the movie town got its first look at the new man.

Valenti is the former presidential assistant who was plucked from the White House to fill the long-vacant post of president of the Motion Picture Association, at a reported $125,000 yearly. He arrived at his news conference accompanied by the association's new general counsel, Louis Nizer, author of "My Life in Court."

Tanned and athletic-looking, Valenti seemed as if he could have played the coach in one of those Richard Arlen-Jack Oakie football movies.

Valenti gave the impression of a take-charge guy from the start. He quoted himself, citing the speech he was to give to an industry luncheon in which he outlined his plans: developing new talent, revising the censorship code, etc. His speech gives less hint of his Texas upbringing than does that of his former boss, Lyndon B. Johnson.

Inevitably, Valenti was asked about his oft-quoted remark that he slept better because Lyndon Johnson was in the White House. Bristling somewhat, Valenti stood by his comment and added, "my wife and daughter sleep better, too."

His predecessors, Will Hays and Eric Johnston, seldom set foot in Hollywood, but Valenti vowed he would be a frequent visitor. "I intend to spend time in the creative end of the business," he said.

Many of the questions concerned the rising tide of seduction on the screen, and Valenti indicated he wasn't afraid of "Virginia Woolf" or anything else.

Concerning film content, he remarked: "Everybody doesn't want to read the Bobsey Twins; there are others who might like to read Kafka's 'Trial.'"

In another room of the Beverly Hills Hotel the powers of the film industry gathered to hear the new leader. Nizer outlined Valenti's career, including the fact that he was "at 15 the youngest boy ever to graduate from a Houston High School."

Valenti cited Sen. Murphy's advent to Washington and his own to Hollywood, terming it "an east-west cultural exchange." After a few other lukewarm gags, he launched into his panacea for the ailing film industry; but not before he acknowledged to a member of the audience:

"Mr. Bob Hope, you have nothing to worry about."

MENOPAUSE

By Dr. Charles Johnson

When a wife enters the menopause period, many glands and organs must work to change her from a productive status. Coordination of the glands and organs, as they perform their miracles are dependent upon the conductivity of the nerve system. The entire personality may change and she may become sharp, suspicious and quick tempered, despondent and fearful. Nerve interference prevents full utilization of the reparative forces in her body. Corrective Chiropractic adjustments restore normal function and ease the problem of this condition. Bolt Takes a Stroke Lead at Chicago

By JERRY LISKA

Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Tommy

Bolt, now a humorous rather than a furious golfer, has upstaged the Billy Casper-Arnold Palmer vendetta in the $100,000 Western Open which moved into its second round at the tough Medinah course today.

Bolt, once the Terrible Tommy with a club-breaking temper, uncorked a three-under-par 68 Thursday for a one-stroke lead over a runner-up trio including Casper, the new U.S. open champion, and a four-stroke margin over Palmer.

Casper, saying "Now that I'm the National Open champion I've got something to live up to," began his Western Open title defense with a 69. That was matched by Harold (Calfish) Kneese and Doug Sanders.

Palmer, admitting "I'm still playing from last week," trailed in a 12-player tie for 18th place with a one-over-par 72.

His remark referred to his collapse in the National Open to San Francisco when he twice was blitzed by Casper in Sunday's final round and Monday's playoff.

Bolt, 48, an infrequent circuit practitioner because of bursitis in his shoulder, enjoyed the spotlight that has escaped him since his last tour victory in the 1961 Pensacola Open.

"I had a typical Palmer round — I was all over the place, everywhere you could possibly go, and still get the ball in the hole," said Bolt of his 32-38 start over Medinah's forest-cramped, par 36-35-71 layout rambling over 7,014 yards.

An opening round hole-in-one was posted by Lionel Hebert, his fifth ace of his career. But the feat with a five-iron on the 178-yard second hole didn't help much. Hebert shot 35-37-72.

The field of 124 pros, seeking top money of $20,000, will be trimmed to the low 75 scores and ties today, and to the low 60 and ties after Saturday's round.

Ryun Has a Chance to Break Record

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Most

everyone in track and field expects Jim Ryun to set the world mile record sooner or later. The 19-year-old frosh at Kansas may do it this weekend at the National Amateur Athletic Union championships.

Ryun became the world's second fastest miler with a 3:53.7 in Los Angeles several weeks ago. Michel Jazy of France holds the record with a 3:53.6.

Jim Grelle, of Portland, Ore., finished second to Ryun at Los Angeles in 3:56 and is expected to provide the chief opposition to his younger opponent when the mile is run Sunday at Downing Stadium on Randall's Island.

Their expected duel, with the possibility of Jazy's record being shattered, highlights the AAU championships which open Saturday. Eight championships will be decided Saturday and 11 more on Sunday with the one-time finishers qualifying for a berth on the U.S. team which meets the Soviet Union in a dual meet at Los Angeles July 23-24.

After his Los Angeles 3:53.7 effort, Ryun passed up the mile in the U.S. Track and Field 20-Federation national meet in Terre Haute, Ind. He surprised everyone with a world record 1:44.9 for the half-mile. Now he is expected to run the mile again.

"Jim has only one thought in mind," said Bob Timmons, Ryun's coach. "He expects to come up with a quality mile this weekend. There is no telling how much he can improve on his latest effort."

Saturday's finals will be in the 440-yard hurdles, 120-yard high hurdles, 100-yard dash, 3-mile run, pole vault, hammer throw, broad jump and discus. Sunday's finals are in the 3,000-meter steeplechase, 440, 220, 2-mile walk, 880, mile, 6-mile, javelin, high jump, triple jump and shot put.

HOUSTON (AP) — Ernie Terrell, World Boxing Association heavyweight champion, and challenger Doug Jones planned little or no work today.

Both underwent heavy practice Thursday in preparation for their title fight next Tuesday night.

Rocky Going Great for the Indians

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

It's time to stop throwing stones at the Rock.

For Rocky Colavito, plagued by people who have asked him what's happened to his home-run touch, has supplied the answer to his detractors by hammering four homers in a 24-hour period that ended Thursday when he led Cleveland to an 8-6 victory over Boston.

Only last week the 32-year-old Indians slugger was discussing his pet peeve, the people looking at his home-run touch. But the Rock hadn't lost it — just misplaced it.

"Whenever I'm not going good someone asks me if I've lost my home-run touch," Colavito said. "They want to know every time you have a bad spell. Now that I've been around awhile, they ask it even more often."

"Have I lost my home-run touch?" Colavito asked rhetorically. "No."

Why then was Colavito having such a hard time finding the range this year, following a 1965 season in which he hit only 26 homers?

"Nobody's the same as he was a couple of years ago," said Colavito, who has hit more than 40 homers three times in his 12-year major-league career. "I'm not the real free swinger I used to be. I try to be more consistent now."

"As for right now, I haven't been timing things right. It's usually a simple thing like timing 98 or 99 times out of a 100 that gets you in a slump. But guys are always looking for a real big reason — like you've lost your home-run touch."

Since last week Colavito has hit at a .351 clip and obviously found the home-run range. He hit three in a doubleheader against Boston Wednesday night, then continued his homer hammering with another against the Red Sox Thursday.

While Colavito continued his torrid hitting, the Detroit Tigers did the same, belting out a Washington starter in the first inning for the third straight day as they romped to a 6-1 victory.

The American League leading Baltimore Orioles rode two homers by Brooks Robinson to a 5-2 triumph over the New York Yankees in the only other game scheduled, maintaining their two-game lead over the second-place Tigers and three-game bulge over the Indians.

In the National League, San Francisco whipped the Chicago Pittsburgh 5-3 and St. Louis Cubs 6-4. Cincinnati downed Pittsburgh 5-3 and St. Louis edged Houston 2-1.

Colavito's homer, his 11th of the season, broke a 1-1 tie in the third inning and the Indians never were headed. Fred Whitfield, Jim Landis and Chico Salmon also homered for Cleveland.

The Tigers jumped on Mike McCormick for three first-inning runs on walks to Dick McAuliffe and Norm Cash, Al Kaline's two-run double and a single by Willie Horton.

Earl Wilson posted his first victory as a Tiger, allowing only four hits before he was relieved by Larry Sherry in the eighth. The Senators' run came on Frank Howard's homer in the ninth.

Robinson hit solo homers in the second and eighth innings, his 14th and 15th of the year, while Andy Atchebarren and Sam Bowers also hit for the disparity that ended Thursday home a run off Yankee starter Al Downing, now 6-5.

Jim Palmer, bringing his record to 8-3 with Eddie Fik's relief help, surrendered both Yankee runs on homers by Joe Pepitone and Mickey Mantle.

Birdie Touts Salmon for All-Stars

By DAVE O'HARA

Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Cleveland

Manager Birdie Tebbetts smiles as he says he would never attempt to influence the voting for the American League All-Star team.

In the same breath, he touts the Indians' Chico Salmon for the shortstop berth.

"I think he's the best utility man I've ever seen and now he's my shortstop," Tebbetts said Thursday after Salmon collected his fifth homer and three singles, along with a sacrifice fly in helping the Indians to an 8-6 victory over the Boston Red.

"Chico certainly has done a good enough job for me to be on the All-Star team," Tebbetts said. "I promise you one thing: the American League won't suffer if he's on it."

The 157-pound Salmon (pronounced say-moon) began the season as a utility man. However, injuries to other players gave him a starting shot. He nailed down the shortstop job after Larry Brown, Dick Howser and Tony Martinez were hurt.

"He's the fourth shortstop we've had this year, and from the way he's going he'll be the last," Tebbetts said.

Salmon, who was purchased on a conditional basis from the Atlanta (nee Milwaukee) Braves farm system in October, 1963, is one of the key reasons for Cleveland's third place position in the pennant race.

In 48 games, he is hitting at a .310 clip with 23 runs batted in. He has taken over the No. 3 spot in the batting order as the Indians' big hitters have had a tough time getting going.

During the War of 1812, James Monroe served as secretary of state and secretary of war at the same time.

Madison Ave. Ernie—WBA Likes His Style

By SANDY PADWE

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

HOUSTON—(NEA)—The change in Ernie Terrell will be complete when he walks into the ring against Doug Jones wearing a blue, chalk-striped bathrobe and black and orange paisley boxing trunks.

Ernie Terrell has gone Madison Avenue or else Madison Avenue is just slumming. Whatever the case, the World Boxing Association likes the idea.

Instead of seeing Terrell's name linked with Bernie Glickman, Milwaukee Phil Alderiso and Anthony (Big Tuna) Accardo, non-ivy League types from Chicago, the WBA is happy to announce that Ernie's new traveling partners are George Hamid, 38, and Barbara Sheehan, 25.

Hamid is a "business adviser." Princeton was his former address. Miss Sheehan is a press agent, Terrell's image changer. Stanford once was her address.

Terrell is the WBA's showpiece, its heavyweight champion.

On June 28, at the Sam Houston Auditorium, Terrell defends his WBA crown against Doug Jones, who nearly beat Cassius Clay a few years ago and hasn't had a decent fight since.

Despite all the changes around him, Terrell still has moments when he reverts to type.

"Doug Jones," he said, "isn't the fighter he used to be at the time he beat Clay but lost a decision."

"I know he can still hit, but he hasn't had that much activity and he hasn't looked that good the past year and a half."

"I don't know if it'll be a good fight or not. I'm not going to say it will be, because if it looks like I'm the boss in there, I won't carry him for the sake of making a good fight. I'll put him away. That's the only honest way to do it."

"Of course, you can't get too cocky when you're the champ and fighting a hungry fighter. Jones wants to beat me; this isn't just a payday fight for him."

Terrell likes to refer to himself as the champ, almost forgetting there's this other guy named Clay.

In fact, Terrell thinks that Clay, the other champion of the world (which world Terrell isn't sure), "hand-picked" his title.

"Who has Clay fought?" Terrell asked.

Mays Keeps After That Homer Mark

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Back in Willie Mays' mind there is something he has to live with but won't admit.

It's breaking the all-time home run record of 714 by Babe Ruth.

Landmarks are falling before wondrous Willy of the National League leading San Francisco Giants. As his team swept a four-game series from the Chicago Cubs with a 6-4 victory Thursday and moved on to Cincinnati Friday night, Mays had matched Ted Williams' homer production of 521, third on the all-time list.

Jimmy Foxx is second with 534 and it's taken for granted that Willie will catch this one before too long and become the greatest right-handed home-run production man in major-league history.

Mays smashed his 521st in a 13-year career with the Giants and 16th for the season in the first inning Thursday and collected two singles afterward for his first three-hit game since the seventh game of the season.

But, somehow, in the Giants' dressing room afterwards, Willie wasn't impressed. He didn't even talk about surpassing Foxx but did dwell on Ruth's great record.

"I'm 35 years old now and I don't think I'll ever beat out Ruth, or even come close to him," he said. "I don't feel any pressure in beating Foxx's mark. But for Ruth, I would have to average 35 to 40 homers every season for at least four or five more years and that's asking a lot when you don't know if you will be playing regularly."

The older you get the fewer homers you will hit.

"I really felt the pressure this spring when guys came around and asked me when I would homer to beat Mel Ott's mark. Now I don't think of it anymore. There's no pressure anymore. The homer I hit Thursday was just another home run as far as I'm concerned."

"The only records I know about is what I read in the papers. But I'll admit you do think of them a little after you read about it."

"I don't even know what pitch I hit for my 521st (there were two men aboard and it was a 2-0 pitch off Dick Ellsworth). As for records, I just don't try to analyze them. When you start doing that you don't break them. There are so many, I don't know what they mean anymore. I don't set any goals."

Elsewhere, Cincinnati won its sixth straight, beating Pittsburgh 5-3 and St. Louis edged Houston 2-1.

In the American League, Baltimore whipped New York 5-2, Cleveland downed Boston 8-6 and Detroit defeated Washington 6-1.

Milt Pappas hit a tie-breaking homer and won his sixth game for the Reds with relief help from Don Nottebart. Vada Pinson walloped a two-run homer for the Reds.

Bob Gibson pitched a four-hitter for his 11th victory as the Cardinals shaded the Astros. Gibson struck out four, raising his total for the year to 139.

Lou Brock tripled leading off in the eighth and rode home on Phil Gagliano's single for St. Louis' winning run.

Members of Court Hard To Figure

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Trying to pin a flat across-the-board liberal or conservative labels on the 9 Supreme Court justices for their work in the term which ended Monday is like trying to squeeze jelly. They split ranks repeatedly and shifted around. These five men — Chief Justice Earl Warren and Justices William J. Brennan Jr., Hugo L. Black, William O. Douglas and Abe Fortas — have been bracketed together as liberals. This would seem to give the liberal viewpoint a 5-4 majority over the justices who have been labeled conservative: John M. Harlan, Byron R. White, Potter Stewart and Tom C. Clark. And this would have been the case, if it had worked out that way. But it didn't. The liberals voted as a block more often than the conservatives but there was otherwise a mish-mash. In 18 major cases, which this writer picked from the court's decisions in the 1965-66 term to get an insight into how the justices stood, here were some of the results: The conservatives voted unanimously against a decision of the liberals only twice. Four times they voted unanimously with the liberals who, for their part, voted unanimously only eight times out of 18. But six times the conservatives voted unanimously in joining one or more liberals in making up a majority necessary to give a decision. In the 18 decisions the greatest dissenter was Black who has been considered an extremely consistent liberal from away back. Some liberals may consider his dissents this year in the best liberal tradition. But that judgment depends on who is doing the considering. For instance, was it in the liberal tradition for Black to vote with Harlan and Stewart against the court's 6-3 decision banning the payment of a poll tax as a prerequisite for voting in state elections? But Douglas, another long-standing liberal, dissented six times, five times side by side with Black, but not joining him against three other decisions, including the poll tax ban. The voting of Clark may surprise many who thought they had him safely tucked away in their minds in a conservative niche. He dissented only twice from the majority decision, the same number of dissents Warren and Fortas gave. Brennan was on the majority side more often than any justice on the court, dissenting only once, and that was against the majority decision which said that only in limited circumstances could arrest civil rights workers have their case shifted from state to federal courts. In this dissent, a blow to civil rights workers, Brennan was joined by Warren, Douglas and Fortas, while Black teamed up with Harlan, Stewart and Clark to make the majority decision. Besides his dissent in the civil rights workers' case, Warren dissented against a majority vote that federal labor law does not bar libel suits seeking money damage under state law for organizing campaign. Fortas' two dissents were the same as Warren's. Whether White will ever take a position that will give him a fair and fixed title as liberal or conservative is far from clear yet. He's been a pretty independent spirit. He had three dissents. Clark, with only two dissents out of the 18 cases examined, could hardly fit into a conservative jacket. Fortas, new on the bench this past term, on his record this year belongs in the liberal grouping. Harlan and Stewart were the most conservative but their decisions were not rigidly conserva-
THE DOCTOR SAYS
Tips on Avoiding Motion Sickness While Flying
BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Most long-distance travel is now done by air. In many persons this results in motion sickness which may vary from a slight loss of appetite to vomiting and retching when there is a high degree of turbulence. Motion sickness is less frequent on night flights than on day flights and is less frequent on large jet-propelled planes than on small or propeller-driven planes. Pills to prevent motion sickness can be prescribed by your doctor and persons who are highly susceptible should take one just before boarding the plane. Although motion sickness is not "all in your mind," as some hardy souls insist, it does help if you busy yourself reading or watching the movie. Even eating the meal served aloft will often help. Another source of trouble is the change in air pressure. When you are traveling at 35,000 feet, your cabin is pressurized to simulate an altitude of 5,000 to 8,000 feet. Such an altitude is enough, however, to cause the air in your middle ear, nasal sinuses and digestive tract to expand. The pressure within your ears and sinuses will equalize with the outside pressure unless the passages are obstructed—usually by an inflammatory swelling. It is said that anyone who is able to walk aboard a plane can endure the flight. I would make an exception of a woman in the last month of pregnancy. If you have a leaky heart or are recovering from a coronary attack, you should not travel by plane unless oxygen is available. This is standard equipment on all large commercial planes. If you have had an abdominal operation, it is well to postpone your flight until 10 days after the surgery. As for safety in general, there is less loss of life per mile of travel in planes than in any other form of transportation. Lightning may strike your plane repeatedly without doing the slightest bit of harm. Since, if anything goes wrong, your pilot will alert you, you should relax. No news is good news.

Funds Asked for Cache Basin

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. E. C. Gathings, D-Ark., Tuesday cited periodic flooding in the Cache River basin and asked Congress to provide funds this year to plan the Cache River-Bayou DeView flood control project in the state.

Gathings appealed to the House Flood Control appropriations subcommittee for enough funds in this year's public works money bill to begin planning the project.

In a letter he said that conditions have become worse in recent years in the Cache River Basin since more land is being cleared and more farm ditches drain into the river basin.

There is a certain type of losing bridge player who seems to false-card for the sheer joy of false-carding. Such a player would play his jack of spades on the opening lead of today's hand and proceed to blame bad luck when West continued the suit and gave his partner a ruff of the third lead. Actually the jack play is a dead giveaway. West doesn't see the deuce in dummy and knows that his partner can't have it. With three spades, East would play his lowest. With only two spades his higher.

However, South did play the deuce and West shifted to the jack of diamonds. It was so likely that South would hold the singleton spade and East the three spades that West did not think he could afford to lead a second spade.

South went right up with dummy's ace. At this point most East players would be so proud of that king of diamonds that they would play a high diamond to tell the entire world about it.

Not this East. We might have called this article a tale of two deuces because South played the deuce of spades at trick one and East played the deuce of diamonds at trick two.

South led a heart from dummy at trick three and West was in with the ace. Then West communed with nature for awhile. How could he beat this four-heart contract if South held the king of diamonds? Would a club shift do any good?

Finally West figured it out. He could only beat the hand if East's three of spades had been a singleton. West led the ace of spades and good defense had triumphed again.

Just Call Him Clyde, the Killer Wright

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Just call him Clyde (The Killer) Wright.

Who's Clyde The Killer? He is the young man, 23, rushed up from the California Angels farm club at El Paso in the Texas League last week to pitch his first major league game against the American League champion Minnesota Twins.

Wright beat 'em handily, 8-1. So the youngster returns to action in Anaheim Stadium tonight against the Baltimore Orioles, who are leading the pennant race.

The Angels had an off-day Thursday to rest up for the Orioles, who will be here for single games through Monday night. Wright's from Jefferson City, Tenn., population 4,554, and Clyde is probably the only big league pitcher Jefferson City can brag about.

After the Minnesota game, Wright, a southpaw, lost a close one to Kansas City, 1-0, and so his record in the big time is 1-1 with two runs in 17 innings, 11 hits, three walks and nine strikeouts.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

Noise Unnerves Her

Dear Helen: Seems like everything in our house is turned up to top volume — the TV, the stereo, the kids' transistor radios. This, with the dishwasher, the refrigerator, the air-conditioner, and all those other hum-m-m-s is enough to drive a housewife crazy.

I ask my husband and children to please turn the music down. (Talking TV is even worse because the harsh sounds give me chills) and they say they can't hear it if it's "that low."

Yikes! Am I abnormal, or are they hard of hearing? — Jittery

Dear Jittery: No, you're not abnormal — just female, and adult females have lower noise thresholds than do men and children.

Try experimenting. If you're like me, there's a definite point beyond which noise makes you mean. Turn the noise down to a whisper — well, then, screach — below this point and you will no longer be edgy. Your family may not even notice the difference, or anyway they will figure it's a small price to pay for peace. — H.

Dear Helen: These women who think the world has ended because their husbands play around! They make me sick. Man wasn't born to be monogamous, and a marriage license won't change that. He needs a variety.

Now if you're thinking I'm a man or a bachelor girl, you're wrong. I'm a wife who knows when she's got it good. My husband loves me and the children, he gives us everything we want, asks no questions and is not demanding. In return, I close my eyes to his shopping around. He's discreet. That's all I ask — that there will be no scandal. His company insists on this too, so I'm doubly protected.

Isn't this realistic attitude better than trying to build a fence around a high-flyer? — Happy

Dear Happy: I read your letter aloud at a Female Chatter and Munching Society meet and got the following reactions:

1. "I wouldn't close my eyes — I'd close HIS — with a left hook!"

2. "If you can't build a fence around a high-flyer, you can at least clip his wings — or put salt on his tail." ("would serve him right.")

3. "She made her bed, why lie about it? A lot of wives face this but most aren't as honest."

4. "She must be from France — American wives either fight or switch."

5. "Think of the kids!"

And this is what I'm thinking "Happy": The sins of the father are usually practiced by the children. Are you raising a family of cheaters? — H.

Chancy Invitation

Dear Helen: My husband announced last week that we were invited for a week-end at his boss's country home. The date is all set, and I'm supposed to start packing, but I've heard not a peep from his boss's wife, whom I hardly know!

This has happened before: The men at the office do the inviting but the women don't follow it up by contacting the wives. I think it's a terrible breach of etiquette. After all, how do WE know the women really want us? My husband says it's a relaxed and friendly way to make you feel part of the firm, but it makes ME feel as if I were just another suitcase to haul along. What do you think? — Mrs. Junior Exec.

Dear Mrs. J: I'm with YOU. Boss's wives, take note — and, for courtesy's sake, write one! Or at least telephone. — H.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LORY

AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Network television for several past seasons has resolutely brushed off the laments of its critics about the lowest state and generally shabby quality of many of its light "entertainment" shows and the almost total lack of serious drama beyond occasional feature films.

Now, it seems, the networks are admitting — indirectly, of course — that perhaps the complaints have been based in truth. They want to do something about it — next season.

This new and sudden passion for drama with "meaning" and "significance" — two words being used a lot these days — bears some earmarks of a fad and now seems to be part of the three networks' continuing game of oneupmanship.

The game rises to a peak of activity when the living room screens are taking their summer siestas. This is when the big build-up starts toward next season's output.

Now the word "quality" has become as fashionable as the word "ratings" with the network executives. ABC perhaps made the opening move in quality oneupmanship with publicity about its forthcoming "Stage 67" anthology series.

Then CBS came along with its splendid production of "Death of a Salesman" and made another move by promising at least two more of similar substance next season. ABC countered with an announcement of a plan for two-hour dramatic productions on a monthly basis some time after the first of next year. NBC said it had signed Sidney Poitier to play "Othello."

CBS made another move in the game Tuesday by announcing it has set aside $500,000 "to encourage the writing of original dramas expressly for television." Writers who turn out material that CBS find to be "meaningful" and "significant" will be rewarded by payments up to $25,000 per script.

CBS commentator Eric Sevareid, recently returned from Viet Nam and other Southeast Asia countries, talked Tuesday night for almost half an hour about his impressions and opinions of the war there and America's involvement in it.

He had no answers to the great questions, but he raised questions around the questions — China's encirclement, the unacknowledged spread of fighting by Americans outside Viet Nam borders, the way we are fighting the war. He disagreed with much of Washington's viewpoint, but he was neither optimistic nor yet despairing.

Arlington Classic Set for Saturday

By ORLO ROBERSTON

Associated Press Sports Writer

Three-year-old thoroughbreds will race for more than $300,000 in Saturday's top races with the best of division tangle in the Arlington Classic at Arlington Park.

In addition to the Classic, which matches for the first time Kentucky Derby-Preakness winner Kauai King, 1965 2-year-old champion Buckpasser, and Creme de la Creme, winner of seven of eight starts, the turf's sophomores will be seen in action in the Coaching Club Oak at Aqueduct, the Cinema Handicap at Hollywood Park and the Queens Plate at Woodbine in Canada.

The Classic, at one mile and the Oaks, at 1 1/4 miles, are $100,000-added events with the Oaks limited to fillies. The Cinema, 1 1/4 miles, and the Queens Plate, 1 1/4 miles for Canadian foals, each carry a purse of $50,000-added.

Kauai King, making his first start since failing to wrap up the Triple Crown with a fourth in the Belmont Stakes June 4, is topweighted in the Classic under 128 pounds. Buckpasser, with the speedy impressive as a running mate under 120 pounds, picks up 125 following his flashy showing in last Saturday's Leonard Richards at Delaware Park. Creme de la Creme carried 123.

Michigan Derby winner Hé Jr.; Pretense, winner of the Sheridan Handicap; Crown Land, who ran a mile in 1:33.2-5 last Saturday, and Eladio, runner-up in the Arkansas, Michigan and Ohio derbies, round out the field. With eight starters the Classic will be worth $108,000 with $63,000 going to the winner.

The Oaks is expected to attract 10 with each carrying 121 pounds. Favorites are Lady Pitt, an impressive winner of the recent Mother Goose, and Moccasin, last year's unbeaten 2-year-old filly champion who has failed to show much this season.

Two Eastern campaigners who failed in the 1 or more of the Triple Crown classics are in a probable field of 12 expected for Hollywood's Cinema. They are Exhibitionist, winner of Hollywood's Argonaut two weeks ago, and Rehabilitate, a recent arrival from New York. They will carry topweights of 124 and 122 pounds, respectively.

The 107th running of the Queens Plate drew a field of 11 Thursday and if all start it will be Canada's richest with a value of $80,175. Titled Hero is the favorite.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $100,000 federal loan to remodel the library building at Henderson State Teachers College at Arkadelphia has been approved by the Health, Education and Welfare Department. Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said Monday.

BEGINNING JUNE 26, DIRECT DISTANCE DIALING WILL SPEED CALLS THROUGH FASTER THAN EVER FOR HOPE AND BODCAW TELEPHONE USERS

ALMOST AS FAST and easy as dialing local calls, Direct Distance Dialing will put Hope and Bodcaw telephone users "closer" to people almost everywhere. Beginning June 26, lift the receiver... just a few spins of the dial, and, in a matter of seconds, the miles between you and those you call seem to vanish. You experience a wonderful new sense of "nearness"... as though you were talking to a neighbor.

And, because Direct Distance Dialing calls go through at low station-to-station rates, you save money, too. It's fast, fun and easy.

HOW TO PLACE YOUR OWN DDD CALL

Just dial "1" ... plus the three-digit area code for the city you want ... plus the telephone number ... that's all. Suppose, for example, you wish to call LUTHER 5-6265 in St. Louis. The St. Louis area code number (listed in the front pages of your telephone directory) is 314. So you'll dial:

1	314	LU 5-6265
DDD Code	Area Code	Telephone Number

Presto. You're talking in a matter of seconds.

P.S. No charge for wrong numbers. If you should reach a wrong number, just find out what city and number you reached. Then hang up, dial your own "Operator" immediately and report it to her. She will see that you are not improperly charged for the call.

Class of '66

Men with unfamiliar faces and somewhat furtive manner have been visiting college campuses in record numbers this spring. They are not from the FBI or the CIA. Their only mission is to disburse jobs. Never before have they had so much to offer. Rarely has the competition among them been keener.

Employment opportunities for engineering graduates are reported to be up 60 per cent over last year; 30 per cent for non-engineers. Starting salaries are up from 5 to 10 per cent, depending on the field. Jobs for women are more plentiful than ever before.

One cloud darkens this otherwise roseate picture. That is the draft and related forms of military service. For the graduate obliged to answer his country's call, departure for the military certainly is not eased by thoughts of the opportunities he must leave to others. One way to relieve this inequity is for companies with abundant resources to include potential servicemen in their interviews and to start them in jobs, even knowing they will have to leave in a matter of months.

As a result of the manpower shortage, signs of a trend in this direction are becoming noticeable. More and more companies are discovering that the raw recruit who departs their offices returns as a man seasoned with responsibility and the opportunity to exert leadership. Providing a second "home" for a returning serviceman thus has yielded dividends to the company that makes the investment. — Monroe (La.) Morning World.

Education Limits Income

The steadily increasing educational attainment of the nation's population is significantly in direct relation to personal income. The economic value of a man in the United States has crossed the quarter-million dollar mark, adding a dramatic note to the human side of national progress.

Figures recently compiled and released through government sources place a man's worth at $260,000 in 1964, nearly double the census estimate of $133,000 for 1949. These totals are overall figures for the prospective lifetime income of an average man just starting out in a career based on currently prevailing income and survival rates.

A man's economic worth and the progress he makes are the result of a variety of factors and their interaction in the course of his working life. What stands out particularly is the overriding importance of education and its rising value to an individual's earning power.

For example, the average prospective lifetime income of a man who never went beyond grade school was $219,000 in 1964. A high school diploma increased this potential by $84,000 to more than $300,000. An even bigger jump in earning power, amounting to $141,000 over the high school graduate in 1964, was shown for the college man where the degree translated the prospect to $450,000.

A college degree has become a virtual must for many managerial and fast-growing professional occupations, with most major national concerns assisting their promising employees in this field. — Jackson (Miss.) Clarion-Ledger.

Another SS Test for Students

WASHINGTON (AP) — An estimated 160,000 students sit down today to pour over Selective Service draft deferment tests across the country.

And in Washington, Selective Service officials defended their policy of deferring college students from the draft.

The tests may be used by local draft boards in considering student deferments for the school year beginning this fall. It is not mandatory that a student seeking a deferment take them.

Sen. Dodd to Present His Witnesses

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Ethics Committee's investigation of misconduct charges against Sen. Thomas J. Dodd takes a new turn today. The Connecticut Democrat gets a chance to present his own witnesses.

John F. Sonnett, Dodd's lawyer, declined to disclose in advance who the witnesses would be other than Dodd.

A former assistant attorney general, Sonnett said he plans to call five witnesses, with Dodd probably being put on the stand last. Whether Dodd testifies before the day is over depends on how long cross-examination of the other witnesses takes, he said.

The six-member bipartisan committee permitted Sonnett to present two witnesses Thursday following testimony by Dodd's former secretary, Mrs. Marjorie Carpenter. She testified that the two, David Martin and Gerald Zeiler, had speculated Dodd must have been paid at least $10,000 by Julius Klein for a trip to West Germany in 1964. Martin and Zeiler promptly denied her charge.

Here's Some Advice for Workworn, Not Lovelorn

NEW YORK (AP) — How do you get along with your boss?

There are dozens of newspaper columns that give advice to the lovelorn—few that give advice to the workworn.

This is odd. In a business-oriented civilization such as ours, there must be at least three people who are unhappy in their jobs for everyone who is unhappy in love.

The key to success lies in being able to court your boss at least as successfully as you do your wife.

Here are a few tested formulas that should help any ambitious young junior executive to win over his employer.

Try to inherit as much money as possible. A boss is always a bit in awe of any employee who has more money than he—no matter how it was acquired.

When he leaves early for the day, don't take the next elevator down yourself. He may have forgotten something, come back and find you gone.

If you get a really creative new idea, avoid presenting it as your own. Tell him apologetically, "Chief, I really stole this one from you, but why don't we—"

If he breaks down and gives his secretary a $1.50 box of candy on her birthday, let him believe you think he's "just a sentimental old pirate." That's how all bosses like to regard themselves.

Smile appreciatively at his jokes, but don't give him a belly laugh or a slap on the back. Such gestures are made only by hopeless underlings.

Former P.O. Building to School Dist.

General Services Administration, Dallas, Texas, announced today that the former Post Office Building and site located at Hope, Hempstead County, Arkansas, is being assigned to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare for conveyance to the Hope School District 1-A, Hope, Arkansas. The property will be used by the school district for classroom activities.

$98,000 to Sharp County

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sharp County, Ark., has been approved for a $98,000 federal grant to help it build a new development center building in Ash Flat.

The building will house a library and offices for welfare, health and adult education agencies, according to Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark. Mills said in announcing the Economic Development Administration grant Wednesday that local interests will provide $65,400 for the building.

Mayor Will Make First DDD Call

Beginning early Sunday morning, telephone users in Hope and Bodcaw will be able to dial their own long distance calls direct through the miracle of Direct Distance Dialing.

"Sunday is DDD day in Hope and Bodcaw," said Southwestern Bell-Arkansas Manager Frank Meeks. "And starting early Sunday, telephone users here will be able to visit with a friend or loved one across the state or across the nation with only a few quick spins of their telephone dial."

The manager said the first call to be direct distance dialed from Hope would be dialed Saturday night by Mayor John B. Gardner, Jr., of Hope, at a special ceremony to be attended by local officials, chamber of commerce leaders, and other distinguished parties.

The group participating in the first call ceremony will tour the central office at the Hope telephone building first, before moving to a local restaurant for formal first call ceremonies.

DDD will enable all telephone users in Hope and Bodcaw to dial virtually all long distance, station-to-station calls, and telephone users will find that it's easy, efficient, and economical.

"A DDD call is the most economical type of call," Meeks said. "Since DDD calls go at low, station-to-station rates." The new service will not, of course, require any increase in regular monthly telephone service rates.

Honey Jumps on 'Me Too' Candidates

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Charles Honey of Prescott, a candidate for Congress in the 4th District, jumped on what he called "Me too" candidates Thursday night.

Addressing a rally following "Chuck Honey for Congress Day" ceremonies in his hometown, Honey said, "You know who they are because when Chuck Honey says something, they jump up the next day and yell 'me too.'"

He departed from his prepared speech to remind the partisan crowd that he was "a poor boy" born in a cabin "out yonder."

Mrs. Richard Arnold, wife of another 4th District candidate, spoke for about 60 seconds and received a light response.

Meanwhile, State Rep. David Pryor, also a candidate for former Congressman Oren Harris' seat, sent out news releases from his Camden headquarters claiming that the administration hasn't told the American people "all it should know about the Viet Nam conflict."

But that does take time—and you may not be that old-fashioned.

Local Youths Enter State Contest

Two Hempstead County youths will enter the State 4-H Club Broiler Barbecuing Contest tomorrow, said Calvin J. Caldwell, county agent. The two 4-H members, Don and Freda Middlebrooks, earned the right to participate by being in the top five contestants at Nashville during the District contest.

The State contest will begin at 9 a.m., on the patio of the Arkansas Power and Light Company building in Hot Springs. Don and Freda will compete against twenty three other 4-H members in the contest. Lanette Arrington, who was first alternate, will make the trip with the group from Hempstead County.

The contestants will attend the Coronation Buffet Dinner and Poultry Princesses pageant. Mrs. James Neal and daughter Rhonda will accompany the 4-Hers on this trip.

Final Plans for Ashdown Paper Mill

Bill Arnold, Texarkana lawyer who has been special counsel to the City of Ashdown, Arkansas has announced the final documents for the $46 million at Ashdown were signed Monday in Memphis, Tenn., paving the way for construction to begin.

The closing transactions included delivery of documents and bonds in the principal amount of $46 million for which payment was made.

Representatives of all interested groups attended the meeting in Memphis. They included Mayor E. E. Cowling and City Recorder Curtis Daniel of Ashdown. Arnold, Nekoson-Edwards officials, including Thomas Leech, vice president, and Robert R. Johnson, corporate secretary; representatives of Brown and Root, the contractor; representatives of the underwriters; the bond counsel from Chicago; and the trustees under the debenture.

The paper mill is to be built on a 2,300 acre tract of land located about one-half mile south of the Ashdown city limits off U.S. Highway 71. Construction is expected to get under way later this year. The completion date for the project is May, 1968.

Ky's Troops Seal Off Two Pagodas

By EDWIN G. WHITE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Paratroopers and riot police sealed off Hue's two main Buddhist pagodas today and hauled away the coffins of two women who burned themselves to death last month in the Buddhist struggle against Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's government.

Ky's men threw up barbed-wire barriers in front of the Dieu De and To Dam pagodas to prevent the Buddhists from holding a public funeral—and probably an antigovernment demonstration—in defiance of a ban by the progovernment mayor and provincial chief, Lt. Col. Phan Van Khoa.

The two bodies, of a nun and a 17-year-old girl, had been kept in the Dieu De pagoda since their immolations on May 28 and May 31. The nun was the first of 10 Buddhist suicides by fire which failed to arouse sufficient public horror to bring down Ky's government.

Three Buddhist monks and about 20 soldiers of dubious loyalty also were arrested in the northern Buddhist stronghold, which Ky's forces seized two weeks ago after more than three months of rebellion.

$58 Billion for Defense Is Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — Assuming that the war in Vietnam may go on for another year, the House Appropriations Committee recommended today $58.1 billion in new Defense Department financing for the fiscal year starting July 1.

But the committee, in a report by Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., emphasized that the decision for full-year financing was "arbitrary" and "should not be construed as a prediction as to when the war will end."

"The date of the termination of the war is, of course, impossible to predict," it added. "The funds recommended by the committee, subject to House action next week, are $46.68 million more than President Johnson requested and almost $12 billion more than was appropriated in a comparable bill last year. Last year's initial bill was inadequate, however, and an extra $1 billion was provided in a second measure."

The money in the pending bill might not be enough, the committee noted, and several billion dollars more may be needed to combat operations continue at a high level.

Tension, Fear and Tear Gas Mark March

By DON MCKEE

CANTON, Miss. (AP)—Frazzled by a hectic night of tear gas and tension, the Mississippi march regroups today for new "confrontations."

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. said a detachment would drive 60 miles east to Philadelphia, Miss., a Ku Klux Klan stronghold, for a rally.

"We will maintain the peace, come hell or high water," said Gov. Paul Johnson, in urging Philadelphia residents to stay away from the rally—part of the march's effort to spur Negro voter registration.

The busy schedule also called for organization of Negro boycott of downtown white merchants and a general work stoppage by Negroes in Canton, while a few continue the march toward Jackson.

From Canton, the march swings south along U.S. 51, the same highway where it all was started by James H. Meredith in Memphis, Tenn., 20 days and 220 miles ago. Jackson is 20 miles from Canton.

Meredith is the slender Negro who broke the racial barrier at the University of Mississippi in 1962. He was wounded by shot-gun blasts June 6 as he walked near Hernando. Civil rights leaders rushed in to take up his march.

Whites Are Restrained at Chicago

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The summer calm in an East Side neighborhood was shattered by violence Thursday night as a young Negro boy was shot and wounded, a white woman was injured by a thrown brick, and shots were fired at two policemen.

Several businesses operated by white men were looted and vandalized.

It was the second night of trouble in the area but police said the situation was brought under control quickly.

The violence erupted along a section of Superior Avenue where Negro and white neighborhoods come together.

Earl Stapler, 30, a Negro, told a newsman, "We want all the white businessmen out of this area, and you can quote me on that. If we can't go into Sowinski Park, then they can't come over here."

The Sowinski area has been a trouble spot before. Racial disturbances broke out there three years ago after a 15-year-old white girl was attacked by a group of Negro youths in the park.

The wounded boy, 9-year-old Stephen Griffin, was reported in lower abdomen. His brother, Richard, 16, said a white man fired the shot from a passing convertible.

Violence Also Breaks Out in Cleveland

CHICAGO (AP) — Helmed policemen held back a crowd of white persons threatening a group of Negroes playing baseball Thursday night in a South Side lakefront park.

About 75 Negroes, most of them from the Ida B. Wells public housing project, traveled 10 miles to play ball in Calumet Park.

A crowd of white people gathered and exchanged jeers and taunts with the Negroes. Police arrested several whites and Negroes. Frank Ditto, a leader of the Negroes, was charged with inciting to riot.

Mike Anderson, 18, a Negro, said, "We felt it was our God-given right to go where we wanted to go. In the Ida B. Wells housing development, we don't have grass to play on."

Police pushed the whites back across to a parking lot away from the baseball diamond when the yelling between the two groups became loud.

When they had the crowd, estimated at about 200, corralled about a block away from the Negroes, many of the whites began leaving.
